

Benefits of a Sober Community

Many people find that after leaving an in-patient treatment center for alcohol and drug dependency, it can be hard to re-enter the real world. Living in early sobriety, sometimes we are overwhelmed by the challenges we must face, and the additional support, community and structure of a sober living facility may serve as an excellent transitional aid.

At New Horizons, you will have the support of an on-site resident manager and house mates that understand exactly what you're going through, that can help you easily handle struggles, and day by day, live successfully in sobriety. If you have decided that you are serious about your recovery and are interested in joining a community where you can learn the necessary skills to be a happy, healthy, responsible member of society, then the New Horizons Sober Community is the place for you!

Treating you with Respect

In our opinion, everyone who has achieved any duration of sobriety has undergone distinct personality changes that make them different from the person they were when they came in. We believe in treating you like the person you are trying to become; and so,

We promise to treat you with respect and dignity.

By creating an environment that fosters self-respect, establishes true pride, and encourages acting with integrity, we hope to increase the likelihood of achieving long-term success in sobriety.
